Paying Forward: Nurturing Inclusive Environments In STEM For A New Generation LGBTQ+ Scientists

Prof. Luciano Rila
Associate Professor (Teaching)
Department of Mathematics
University College London (UCL)

Luciano Rila is an Associate Professor (Teaching) in the Department of Mathematics at University College London (UCL). He has been involved in Equality, Diversity and Inclusion work for several years. In September 2020, he co-founded the LGBTQ+STEM @UCL network to support and advocate issues relevant to LGBTQ+ people in STEM, broaden the perceptions of LGBTQ+ identities in STEM and create a community that offers a sense of belonging to LGBTQ+ staff and students in his institution. He won the UCL Student Choice Awards 2021 for Diverse and Inclusive Education. He sits in the London Mathematical Society Committee for Women and Diversity. He is also a keen trapeze artist.
